Don't lead alone

As an education leader, you face one of the most challenging jobs—answering to multiple stakeholders and making decisions with far-reaching impact. Cognia® Leadership Circle guides you through this demanding role by offering multiple opportunities to engage with peers, enhance skills, and stay current with emerging trends. Using a cohort-based approach, participants are grouped with leaders in similar roles and school types and supported by an experienced Cognia ambassador.

If not now, when?

You likely prioritize your staff's professional development over your own. Take time to refine your leadership skills, alleviate isolation, and cultivate a valuable professional network. Join a community of like-minded peers who offer support with time-sensitive challenges today.

Our Solution

District and school leaders need and deserve an innovative and collaborative community that reaches beyond your backyards. Here's what you will receive as a Cognia Leadership Circle member.

○ Ambassador Support

Using a cohort-based approach, participants are grouped with leaders in similar roles and district/school characteristics, guided by an experienced Cognia ambassador. Cohorts engage and support one another monthly.

○ Solution Circle

Circling up is what we do best. Whenever needed, our members can launch a Solution Circle. Members submit their problems using an online form and we gather school leaders from around the country to collaborate and discuss solutions within the week. We facilitate the discussion, so you can focus on leading.

○ Think Tanks

While leadership challenges vary by environment, leaders across the country face many common struggles. When trends emerge, we pull together a "Think Tank," a live and recorded discussion with leaders focused on pragmatic solutions.

○ Leader Chat Podcast

Leaders don't have time for sit-and-get PD or typical webinars, which are often ineffective. We provide weekly podcasts focused on your toughest challenges. Members can ask top education and business experts questions and receive actionable advice.

○ Online Leadership Community

The Cognia Learning Community is an efficient and interactive professional leadership community where you will find valuable content, network with peers, and share your ideas.

○ In-Person Events

We know the value of face-to-face connections. Our events foster open networking and real collaboration—not lectures—because we believe circles are better than rows.
